Loved the visual aids for learning and interests!!!

Intelligent, serious yet engaging with the audience. Would like to see her speak at our national conference. Her method of providing funny names for immodium and lomotil were excellent ways to help us remember ways to help slow down high output ileostomie

Really enjoyed the role playing. A unique way to provide information and make it more interesting.

I really appreciated insight from the MD and the WOCN.

Great specific information and very articulate speaker! would love to see Dr Muldoon and Chris again!

very unique presentation style. fun

Great job engaging the audience!

WONDERFUL presentation and very valuable to add 'reminders' on how to remember the medications

Great review of medications!

Demonstration was fun and exceptional well delivered.

greaat visuals, I traction, and humor Very educational.

Very clever way of using the analogies to help remember interventions/meds to manage high output would like surgeon (and experienced Certified Ostomy Nurses) to address ways for CON to introduce pre-op stomal marking to a surgical group that is not in habit of having Certified Ostomy Nurse available for markings....

Loved the patient- WOC interaction with medications

This was absolutely the best presentation on high output ileostomies. Thank you very much. Teach with humor...so much better retention.

creative skit made it easier to understand care/management.

Great way to teach the pharmaceutical mgmt of HO ostomies.

They were both great speakers. I loved how they demonstrated the different medications and IV fluids to resolve the high volume output in illeostomies. It is also a great way for our patients to learn as well. When things are fun and more visual then most Good sources, great protocol and pathway. Kept presentation lively.

Excellent presentation and props

AWESOME PRESENTATION!

the 'play' made me remember the medications!

great presentation and your skit was hilarious it will certainly help remember the Meds. Great job

This was great. Adding humor and role playing was a nice change to the usual presentations. Getting a refresher in reasons high output occurs was appreciated. Learned a lot about the meds used for treatment. I love the idea of providing a handout for HH.

Interesting and entertaining!

This was very well done. I work with a lot of ileostomy patient's and they have no idea how much fluid they have to drink to stay hydrated

Extremely helpful. Thanks.

Great visuals. Thank you!

Enjoyed interactive presentation

Great session

Great presentation!!! Loved the role play . . . very funny!!!!

Learned about the meds used to control output - good info.

I really enjoyed this presentation and both speakers. It was nice to see how this physician and the WOC nurse worked together so well. I loved the skit they performed. This made it so interesting, especially to learn about the medications and how they can also a valuable experience to hear a physician and see how the md makes decisions for the symptoms that we are dealing with as ostomy nurses

Very good lecture. Liked the skit a lot which helps with retention.

Very cute visuals - good learning tools. Interesting content

Loved the skit, made it fun to learn

Very Creative in presentation!

- excellent presentation! Creative, fun and should be invited back to National WOCN Society Conference in the near future

Good use of skit format.

Role play was very effective

I think Dr. Muldoon has hit on a great idea for making pharmacology enjoyable!

very helpful as far as what meds to use, dosage, and in what order.

I really liked this session because it was interactive. Having the nurse doctor relationship was a huge plus! Dr. Muldoon's sense of humor to get points across is outstanding.

Excellent session and available to my work

Loved the alternate teaching method the use of role playing...very good...
