

9/22/2018 201809 Who Will Sponsor the Voyage? Funding Challenges Across the Continuum

Objective	# Resp	Avg.
Compare interventions to reduce cost for these patients between care settings	140	3.693
Infer consequences of funding challenges for patients receiving wound, ostomy, continence and foot care services	140	3.679

Eric Goodman	Seaker Overall Avg:	3.586
Teaching Methods/Ability		3.24
Presentation was fair, balanced and free from commercial bias		4.09
Demonstrated Expertise and effectively communicated the topic		3.44 terrible speaker, he put me to sleep, and sounded like he was half asleep. I'm sure he had some good ideas, but I couldn't follow him long enough to get them.

Great topic. Costs and funding are more important than ever. Especially when you are forced to choose between how to best get the patient what they need versus what those needs/supplies will cost.

Not engaging, hard to follow

Poor presentation skills

I feel this speaker may be knowledgeable but did not convey the information in an organized way for others to understand.

Very important information! Could save our jobs.

Hard to follow, confusing information. Speaker not engaging, poorly communicated information

Poor content, too many slides, unable to follow speaker. Seemed disjointed and very opinionated. Just not good and I normally do not give negative feedback but this was not an effective speaker

Good transparency, multiple resources, and identification of weaknesses in communication between healthcare disciplines.

Information not delivered well

Not up to SER speaker quality.

The presenter read his presentation and speaker notes. We definitely have more qualified speakers in the SER than to invite this speaker from Chicago.

The presentation was fantastic!

Good content. May benefit by having pictures or something to capture attention in beginning.

Good information

Hard to follow.

Speaker hard to follow

Speaker was flat and difficult to understand

Very disjointed presentation. Speaker and slides, did not match at all and made it hard to follow his train of thought

Lacking presentation skills

Thought provoking lecture. Documenting is key to obtaining funding. Speaker was quite monotone !

Difficult to follow the discussion, but it was an interesting topic.

Interesting

Good topic - presentation not very good

none

poor presentation

This session was difficult to follow for me. I understood where he was coming from but sounded like such a big project to take on in my acute care setting.

This was the most poorly organized lecture that I have attended in 20 years of WOC conference attendance. The speaker was all over the place. In addition he made several disparaging remarks that quite frankly I found embarrassing and was outraged by. I did

Speaker was very flat, and I had a hard time hearing him.

Speaker was not able to meet his objectives; information did not match topic or objectives..difficult to follow or understand.

Speaker did not follow the outline. I received little information on this topic

Disjointed ... nothing gained in this presentation

Speaker was not engaging and was hard to follow. Was reminded of some best practices for documentation.

This presentation was disjointed. It was challenging to follow the speaker during his presentation. The presenter was very sarcastic and seem to have a personal agenda. His distaste for hospital personnel in the treatment and care of patients was evident.

This session contained too much detailed information to absorb, as useful as it was. I appreciate Mr. Goodman's effort to present this vast topic.

needs to practice lecture prior to presentation to gain confidence in speaking and explain slides as too much information on slides. I presume that he is a brilliant practitioner but presentation did not communicate all the skills or may be too much infor

His content was good, informative & important. He needed to talk louder and add some enthusiasm.

Lecture very difficult to follow

Presenter skill needs help

not engaging, disjointed and made inappropriate comments

Becker's Review

I think he was nervous, good info, presentation painful

I didn't really understand most of the points the speaker was trying to make. I came into this session looking forward to learning about cost-effectiveness and being able to find avenues for patients to get the treatment they need at low cost but came out

I was disheartened to find out that the disconnect is wide spread and not just occasional.

Unfortunately these objectives were not clearly met. Eric has a lot of good information and I look forward to seeing him develop as a speaker. I would encourage him to consider Toast Masters, because he is a valuable WOC nurse and his knowledge needs to be

He does not need to come back needs to improve presentation skills

Eric was a very poor presenter. My take away from this presentation is he does not appear to be a very good WOC nurse. He reported he gives the patients "check lists" to go through, does not help them lift their leg because "the patient should be able to

Good information

I thought this was a difficult topic that needed a more dynamic speaker.

very scattered, difficult to hear, poorly expressed speaker need to come out of his shell a little more, great content!!

Excellent information and great resources provided. Seemed a little nervous? Thanks for providing all the links.

Very difficult to follow at times; great information though difficult to follow along

Difficult to follow and walked away with nothing that I feel as though I could use.

very good

Subject ?

Interesting topic, I became aware of some new ideas to use at my facility.

interesting

Very disjointed lecture. Overheads did not match what he was talking about. Did not relay information well.

difficult to follow, speaker seemed unprepared

Eric has a very different style of delivery. His presentation was loaded with great facts about documentation and reimbursement. He helped to connect the dots between inpatient care and outpatient care expectations and outcomes. .